

DELAWARE BIRD RECORDS COMMITTEE

Delaware State List of Bird Species and the Delaware Review Species List

The Delaware State List of Bird Species contains the following 420 species of birds that have been accepted for Delaware by the Delaware Bird Records Committee (DBRC) as of September 1, 2017. We request documentation for 93 species in boldface and marked with an asterisk (*) that constitute the Delaware Review Species List. Species also marked with a dagger (†) are birds that are on the Delaware Review Species List under certain circumstances. Two are pelagic species that are only reviewable when seen from shore and the Eurasian Collared-Dove that is only reviewable when seen outside of Selbyville, DE. Please note the extralimital subspecies of common local species and the reports that are presently being reviewed by the Committee in the Addendum. All of these and any other species not on the list currently require documentation.

2017 Updates:

- Trumpeter Swan and Monk Parakeet have been accepted by the DBRC and added to the Delaware Bird and Review Species Lists.
- Thayer's Gull has been removed from the list as Thayer's Gull was lumped with Iceland Gull by the AOS.
- Five species have been removed from the Review Species List in 2018: Black Rail, Sandhill Crane, Roseate Tern, Arctic Tern and Cave Swallow.

2018 Updates:

- Elegant Tern and Western Tanager have been accepted by the DBRC and added to the Delaware Bird and Review Species Lists.

All reports should be sent to:

Addendum

Subspecies: The Committee has begun reviews of extralimital subspecies that can be positively identified in the field. All reports of the following subspecies that have been noted in Delaware previously should be submitted to the Committee Secretary:

Black Brant (Branta hrota nigricans)
Great White Heron (Ardea herodias occidentalis)
Eurasian Whimbrel (Numenius phaeopus spp.)
Audubon's Warbler (Dendroica coronata auduboni)
Oregon Junco (Junco hyemalis oregonus)

Additionally, records of well-marked subspecies that have not been previously reported from Delaware, such as Red-shafted Flicker, races of Dark-eyed Junco other than Slate-colored, and European forms of North American species including Tundra Swan, Brant, and White-winged Scoter, should be submitted for review. We are no longer reviewing Green-winged 'Common' Teal, Anas crecca crecca.

The following species and subspecies are under review by the Committee (documentation is requested for all of these species):

"Gray-bellied" Brant (Branta bernicla unnamed)

Pacific Loon (Gavia pacifica)
